Onsite Induct: Delivering Industry specific, flexible

Industry Specific Solutions

Matched to your needs

Pegasus Safety, through the Onsite Induct product, provides complete generic and site induction training solutions for organisations serious about safety. Onsite Induct develops and delivers fully customised solutions, reinforced by our safety values and our overall competency and experience in delivering over 30,000 face to face and online inductions, across a wide variety of Industries.

Training Options

With Onsite Induct, you always have the right options to meet your specific requirements. Onsite induct training options include classroom based learning and assessment, self paced e-learning with online theory and classroom assessment and virtual classrooms using a teleconferenced trainer.

Delivering Unique Benefits

Total Industry Solutions

Pegasus Safety works with your organisation to develop site specific content and solutions to address your key safety-risk training requirements. We consult, build, plan and deliver solutions within fixed time frames and within defined budgets.

Our Onsite solutions deliver unique benefits to Industry via our online Competency Tracking System. This system provides you with absolute control over the whole process and presents you with "live" management reports at your fingertips.

When put into operation, Onsite Induct solutions result in a reduction in health and safety risks at the site and increased productivity. Onsite also minimises the potential for litigation by helping you ensure work on site is only performed by trained, qualified and authorised personnel.

Training resource options include slide shows, audio and video multimedia, flash media, assessment, course outlines, competency mapping and course manuals.

Onsite Induct

The zero risk approach

Your safety training requirements should be managed by competent, experienced trainers that grasp and understand your needs and the safety requirements of the organisation. Pegasus Safety delivers induction solutions to some of the largest multinational companies in Australia and solutions for smaller and medium sized facilities.

In all cases, our approach is the same. Onsite Induct solutions are matched to our safety values and culture. With over 200 equivalent full time staff working for the Pegasus Group across mining, construction, manufacturing and the utilities industries we really do understand safety training because it is a part of what we do every day.

Today, we deliver face to face and online based programs, reinforced with comprehensive testing and assessment regimes.
